Round 3 : July 8 (Saturday)–July 9 (Sunday)

2017 Japanese SUPER FORMULA Championship: Fuji Speedway

Japan Race Promotion Inc. (President: Akira Kurashita, Head office: Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo, Japan) today announced details of Round 3 of the 2017 Japanese SUPER FORMULA Championship Series, scheduled to take place on July 8–9 at Fuji Speedway (length = 4.563 km) in Shizuoka Prefecture, Japan.

Round 3 will feature an official qualifying session based on a knock-out format, followed by a championship race of 55 laps (250.965 km).

Fuji Speedway has Japan's longest back straight, making it the ideal spot to enjoy head-to-head battles. To achieve the highest possible speeds, race cars need to reduce downforce and drag, but the sequence of corners in the back half of the course means drivers want more downforce to negotiate turns. Teams that set up their race cars to skillfully balance that contradiction stand a good chance of victory.

After Round 1 at Suzuka and the two races in Round 2 at Okayama, Andre Lotterer (VANTELIN TEAM TOM'S), Kazuki Nakajima (VANTELIN TEAM TOM'S) and Yuhi Sekiguchi (ITOCHE ENEX TEAM IMPUL) each have one win under their belts. Naoki Yamamoto (TEAM MUGEN) and Hiroaki Ishiura (P.MU/CERUMO · INGING) also gained points in all of the first three races. Those five drivers currently occupy the top positions in the standings. All of this year's rookies have also grabbed points, including a podium finish at Okayama for Nick Cassidy (KONDO RACING), suggesting there is more to come from the new drivers in the second half of the SUPER FORMULA season.

Can the leading group keep up their momentum and will the rookie drivers move up the standings? These are just some of the questions for Round 3 as we approach the midpoint of the competition.

No. 36 Andre Lotterer (VANTELIN TEAM TOM'S) currently sits at the top of the driver standings

■ OFFICIAL QUALIFYING KNOCK-OUT FORMAT

Q1 (20 minutes) : Top 14 cars progress to Q2, grid positions 15-19 fixed

Q2 (7 minutes) : Top 8 cars progress to Q3, grid positions 9-14 fixed

Q3 (7 minutes) : Grid positions 1-8 fixed

- 10 minute intervals between each qualifying
- As the name suggests, drivers are knocked out if they do not post good enough times during the first two qualifying rounds.

■ CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

55 laps (1 lap: 4.563 km x 55 = 250.965 km)

■ Fuji Speedway Racing Course

Fuji Speedway is a historic circuit in Japan, now in its 51st year of operation. The circuit is known for having one of the longest straights in motorsport. With a length of 1.475 km, the straight is an ideal spot to watch drivers use drafting to pull off exciting overtaking maneuvers. After the speed of the main straight, braking timing is crucial when trying to enter the first TGR corner ahead of other drivers.

From the Advan corner through to the double-apex 300R corner, the race car set up has a major impact on speed as drivers enter the Dunlop corner. The stretch from the Dunlop corner chicane through to corner 13 and the Prius corner is different to other high-speed sections of the course, requiring skillful use of the accelerator. Exit speed from the final Panasonic corner also has a major impact on the speed of the car in the home straight, so drivers need to carefully find the shortest line through the curve.

GET TO KNOW THE BASICS

■ WHAT IS SUPER FORMULA?

Japanese SUPER FORMULA Championship is the top category of formula racing in Japan featuring purpose-built racing cars with a single-seat, open cockpit and open wheels. Organized by Japan Race Promotion, Inc. and fully sanctioned by the Japan Automobile Federation (JAF), SUPER FORMULA traces back its origins to the Japanese Championship Formula NIPPON first launched in 1996. 2013 saw the re-launch of the series under the new name of SUPER FORMULA.

■ ABOUT THE CHAMPIONSHIP

The 2017 Japanese SUPER FORMULA Championship Series is the only internationally accredited driver championship in Asia, run over seven rounds and six circuits across Japan. A total of 11 teams (entrants) and 19 drivers (cars) from Japan and overseas^{*1} are competing to win this year's series.

^{*1} 13 drivers from Japan and six from six other countries: New Zealand, Sweden, France, UK, Germany, and India

■ CHAMPIONSHIP AWARDS

The Drivers' Championship title is awarded to the driver who scores the most points over the course of the season. The Champion is awarded the Series Driver's Champion Cup and prize money by Japan Race Promotion, Inc. In addition, the Champion receives the Confederation's Cup offered by the Parliamentary Association for Motorsport Promotion of the Liberal Democratic Party of Japan, as well as the Commissioner's Cup from the Japan Tourism Agency. For the Team Champion, the Minister's Cup will be awarded by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry, plus prize money from Japan Race Promotion, Inc.

■ RACE CAR

● Chassis

Since 2014, SUPER FORMULA race cars have used the SF14 chassis, which is made by Italian company Dallara and is based on the "quick and light" design concept. The adoption of the SF14 chassis has led to a dramatic improvement in the quality of races, leading to greater interest in SUPER FORMULA overseas.

● Engines

Honda and Toyota, two of Japan's leading automakers, have developed engines for SUPER FORMULA based on the NRE engine concept², which is part of each automaker's efforts to develop next-generation engines. SUPER FORMULA cars are currently powered by the HONDA HR-417E or the TOYOTA R14A.

All engines are fitted with fuel flow restrictors. By setting fuel flow limits, the key to winning races is how efficiently fuel can be converted into power.

Competitive development between automakers has resulted in a highly efficient engine with higher brake specific fuel consumption (BSFC) and net thermal efficiency better than hybrid vehicles currently on the market, helping to advance the development of next-generation engines.

² NRE engine specifications

Honda, Toyota and Nissan together agreed on a number of criteria for race engines that incorporate environmental technology while also preserving the excitement of motor sport.

Cylinder configuration	: Inline-four
Displacement	: 2,000cc + turbo
Fuel intake system	: Direct injection
Fuel flow limits	: 95kg/h for Suzuka and Fuji Speedway circuits, 90kg/h for other circuits

● Overtaking System

SUPER FORMULA introduced an overtaking system (OTS) in 2009 as part of initiatives to make races more exciting. SUPER FORMULA was the first competition in the world to adopt this system. The OTS encourages drivers to make more overtaking maneuvers, one of the most exciting parts of motorsport. The SF14 OTS system uses the fuel flow restrictor fitted to engines to temporarily increase fuel flow to the engine, boosting power³. Drivers use a button on the steering wheel to activate the system for 20 seconds up to five times during a race or five times total for 2-race formats.

The Overtaking Lamps (OTL) on the roll hoop indicate when the system is in use, allowing spectators to see when drivers have activated their OTS. The racing driver with the most Championship points has the distinction of an OTL with red lamps, called "leader's red" whereas the other cars' OTL lamps are white.

³ Overtaking system specifications

Mechanism	: Activating the overtaking system boosts fuel flow by 10kg/h
Impact	: Activating the overtaking system increases engine output by around 60PS, or 10%
Rules	: Drivers are allowed to use the system up to five times per race for 20 seconds each time.

● Tires

Yokohama Rubber became the sole tire supplier from the 2016 season. Yokohama Rubber's ADVAN racing tires perform well against SUPER FORMULA's rigorous criteria for grip, durability and safety, adding to the excitement of race events.
